

Letter from Alexander Graham Bell to Mabel Hubbard Bell, 1883, with transcript

Alexander Graham Bell to Mabel (Hubbard) Bell. L B. & Alb. Depot, Boston, Thursday evening, Summer 1883. My darling:

The telegraph strike seems to have affected matters so much here that I doubt whether you will receive my telegram any sooner than this note.

I arrived safely this morning but am distressed not to hear from you. Please send telegram. I am so fearful something is wrong. I don't know why but I have a sort of instinctive fear. Please telegraph how you are.

Your loving husband, Alec. Mrs. A. G. Bell, Oakland.
